

The ILT believes in offering support that is student-centered, research-based, invitational, collaborative, responsive, experiential, job-embedded, strengths-based, transformational, and built on trust.

To deepen learning for students, the core work of the ILT is to learn alongside teams of educators engaged in inquiry processes within schools:

To complement the above, other possibilities include:

Supporting teams of administrators and teachers as they co-create powerful learning environments for teachers & students.

Connecting teams of educators to observe learning in action within schools & at other schools as they innovate learning.

Designing responsive learning experiences for multi-school teams, based on emerging themes.
